

IslandWood

Last Updated Monday, 02 April 2007

IslandWood :I created wood carvings such as fireplace mantels and signage for this unique environmental learning center located on Bainbridge Island.

Islandwood, A School in the Woods

Signagel did a variety of tasks on almost all of the signage. Island Wood covers roughly 270 acres of ground at the southern part of Bainbridge Island. The main entry sign (see picture) was carved out of a single slab of old growth cedar. I also created other signage throughout the property for trails, exhibits and other uses. Fireplace Mantels There are 7 fireplace mantels, one in each of the main buildings on the school property. Large sections of madrona trees and trunks were used for the mantels. Each mantel has carvings at each end representing wildlife from the local environment.